Blandine Waldmann's performance of Liszt's "Transcendental Etude No. 12" is a stunning interpretation that seamlessly blends technical mastery with emotional storytelling, capturing the dramatic and transformative spirit of the piece. From the mysterious, haunting opening to the exhilarating, fast-paced middle passages and ultimately the triumphant, luminous resolution, Waldmann navigates each shift in mood with precision and expressive depth. Her interpretation highlights the emotional arc of the etude, suspense, intensity, and eventual transcendence, bringing out its full dramatic scope. Every phrase is played with intention and heart, and the pristine production quality further elevates the experience, showcasing both the power and subtlety of her artistry.
